At a glance

Bakker DeLaCruz services law firms and corporate counsel with a need for e-discovery consultants with foreign language skills.

Core principles:

As a small business, we recognize the importance of individual attention and value. Since we have almost no overhead costs, we are able to provide greater value and innovative fee arrangements.

We place great emphasis on providing intelligent, outside the box solutions. Flexibility and creativity in meeting our clients' needs are paramount.

We take pride in our obsession for attention to detail and unwavering commitment to leave no stone unturned.

Benefits of using Bakker DeLaCruz

Flexibility and creativity are paramount

🌐 We understand that cost is the biggest concern in e-discovery today. But controlling costs does not always mean sacrificing thoroughness and effectiveness. Our business model allows us to provide greater value and innovative fee arrangements. We provide our services at competitive hourly rates and, in certain situations, can price projects avoiding the use of hourly rates.

🌐 Over 50% of our clients are short on space. We can conduct document review projects off-site, avoiding use of the firm's space and resources. However, we are flexible to our client's needs--if you prefer, we can work on-site. We are also internationally mobile in the event that data privacy regulations mandate overseas processing.

🌐 In high-stakes litigation and investigations, experience matters. Bakker DeLaCruz offers a higher level of professionalism. We have managed reviews, interfaced with overseas offices and consulted on search and review protocols. We bring a unique perspective because we are licensed attorneys and solicitors who have tried cases. When we require additional team members, we do not need to rely on questionable vetting processes. After a combined eighteen years in the industry, we have established a network of high-caliber professionals. We know you'll be happy with our higher quality work product.

Benefits of using Bakker DeLaCruz

Experience matters

The Bakker DeLaCruz team has a combined eighteen years of experience in e-discovery consulting and project management services. We speak numerous languages, have been trained and are licensed in several jurisdictions, and are authorized to work abroad, eliminating the need for lengthy visa application processes. We have worked on matters involving both private corporations and foreign governments in commercial litigation, investigations and criminal prosecutions involving the FCPA, antitrust and export control in the oil and gas, auto, telecommunications, transportation, mining and financial services industries.
